

Example:

10 Point Football Teaser – Ties Lose
2 Teams	-250
3 Teams	-120
4 Teams	+120
5 Teams	+170
6 Teams	+220
7 Teams	+300
8 Teams	+400

Half-Point Purchases: Half points are offered on games at the sole discretion of the Sportsbook management. Half points cost 10 cents, which means that if you buy a half-point, your bet will cost you -120 instead of -110. Buying a half point off of, on to, or through the betting lines of 3 or 7 points in football costs an additional 20 cents in pro football and an additional 15 cents in all other cases. For example, if you want to make a bet on a team that is -8.5 (-110 odds) and want to bring the line to -8 then the new odds would be -8 (-120), or you can buy a full point to make the line -7.5 (-130).

Prop Bets: Football props, sometimes called propositions, are frequently offered. They offer unique ways of wagering on games or seasonal records. Prop bets are frequently offered on such categories as passing yards, total completions, rushing yards and receiving yards, just to name a few examples. Prop bets are settled by the official league box scores. Many prop bets have qualifications or limitations on the bets. Be sure to read the terms of the props carefully.

Futures: The Sportsbook offers bettors the opportunity to wager on the outcome of a season. For example, which team will win the Super Bowl or National Championship in College Football.

As an illustration, let's look at Pro Football Championship futures. Sportsbook lists each Pro Football team with corresponding odds to win the Pro Football Championship. For example, the Buccaneers may be 4-1, the Falcons 10-1, the Dolphins 50-1, etc. If you place $10 on the Falcons and they go on to win the Pro Football Championship, you collect $100 plus your $10 back for a total payoff of $110.

It does not matter whether your team covers the point spread in the Pro Football Championship. For the purposes of future book betting, the team must win only the Pro Football Championship.

When you make a future bet, your odds are "locked in." That means if you bet the Falcons at 10-1, you will get paid off at 10-1 odds, even if the Sports Book later adjusts the odds to 5-1, for instance.

Another form of future betting involves the Over/Under on the number of games a team will win in the regular season. This type of wager is typically found on pro football, pro baseball, and pro basketball. For example, the Over/Under on the Miami Dolphins may be 8 wins. If Miami goes on to win 9 or more games, the "over" is a winner. If they win 8 or fewer games, the "under" is a winner. If they win exactly 8, the bet is a push and tickets are refunded.

BET ON THE GAME

To bet on football, tell the Sportsbook Agent the bet number of the team you wish to bet and the amount you wish to wager. The payout, unless stated otherwise, is figured at odds of 10/11. This means that a wager of $11 would win $10 and return $21.

This is called a straight bet and it's the most common type of bet.

Point Spread: A bet on a team to "cover the spread," which means the team must win or not lose by a predetermined margin of points.

Example:

Bet #	Team	Line
101	Dolphins
102	Buccaneers	-7

Note: The bottom team listed is always the home team unless otherwise noted.

The point spread is always placed to the immediate right of the team that is favored. If you bet the Buccaneers, the Buccaneers must win by more than 7 points for you to win. If you bet the Dolphins, you will win if any of the following happens:

- a. The Dolphins win the game.
- b. The game ends in a tie.
- c. The Dolphins lose the game by 6 or fewer points.

If the Buccaneers win by exactly 7 points, the wager is declared a push and all money bet on either team is refunded.

Point spreads change constantly. The listed point spread at the time you make your bet may be different from the point spread when the game starts. The point spread that is listed on your ticket is your official spread. A football game must play for at least 55 minutes in order to be considered official for all point spreads and total wagers.

Total: Total points scored in a game. Also called the Over/Under.

Example:

Bet #	Team	Line	Total	Moneyline
101	Dolphins		50	+220
102	Buccaneers	-7		-270

You may wager that the total score of the game will be greater or less than the number listed. It doesn't matter which team covers the spread. Simply add the final score of each team for the total. The payout, unless stated otherwise, is figured at odds of 10/11. Overtime periods count towards the final score.

Money Line: Odds for a game based on $1, where a "minus" (-) preceding the number indicates the team is a favorite. A "plus" (+) preceding the number indicates the team is an underdog. No point spreads are used for Money Line bets. With the Money Line bet, the team you bet on must simply win the game.

In some cases, bettors have the option to avoid the point spread and simply bet on which team will win. This is called betting on the "Money Line."

Example:

Bet #	Team	Line	Total	Moneyline
101	Dolphins		50	+220
102	Buccaneers	-7		-270

The Buccaneers' odds are -270, meaning a $27 bet would win $10 for a return of $37. The Dolphins' odds are +220, meaning a $10 bet would win $22 for a return of $32.

First-Half/Half-time Wagering: Placing wagers for either the first-half or second-half of a game are quite popular. A first-half wager is determined by the half-time score. A second-half wager basically resets the game at 0-0 for betting purposes. Half-time wagers (2nd half wager) include all play involved in overtime games.

Once the first-half has been completed, all wagers on the first-half will stand regardless of the length of the remainder of the game. Wagers on the second-half will be decided on the basis of points scored in the second-half.

If the entire second-half is not played to its completion, all second-half wagers will be refunded. For example, if the entire second half of the game is not played due to weather, a power outage, or some other external circumstance.

Wagering on Quarters: Wagering on any specific quarter will be decided on the basis of points scored in that specific quarter only. All specific quarters must be played to their completion or the wager will be refunded. Fourth quarter wagers do not include overtime periods unless stated otherwise.

Off the Board Parlays (for all sports): These wagers are calculated using true odds payoffs. If you bet four teams off the board and all of them are listed at -110, your payout would be 13.3 for 1, which is more generous than the parlay card payout of 12 for 1.

Football Teasers: This is a wager that improves the point spread, but at reduced odds. We offer 6, 6.5, 7, and 10 point teasers on pro football, and 6.5, 7, 7.5, and 10 point teasers on college football. "Teasing" the point spread is done by adding points to an underdog or by subtracting points from a favorite. This increases the probability of winning your bet, but decreases the payout odds of the parlay.

The following table lists the teaser payout odds:

Example:

Teaser Odds
Pro Football	6 Pts	6 ½ Pts	7 Pts
College Football	6 ½ Pts	7 Pts	7 ½ Pts
2 Teams	-115	-125	-140
3 Teams	+160	+150	+130
4 Teams	+260	+220	+200
5 Teams	+450	+400	+350
6 Teams	+700	+600	+500
7 Teams	+900	+800	+700
8 Teams	10/1	+900	+800
9 Teams	15/1	12/1	10/1
10 Teams	20/1	15/1	12/1
